Handcrafted from Fine Woods

Our wood counter shutter slats, guides and optional hood are fabricated of hand-selected wood. Red oak is standard, but you can select from Douglas fir, white oak, birch, and exotic wood species, or a material that you specify. Shutters are provided unfinished, allowing you to match the shutter to established design elements. The result is a counter shutter that complements the interior aesthetics in a variety of applications.

Solid Construction

Our wood counter shutters are constructed of high-quality flat slats for a good tight fit and enhanced aesthetics. The counterbalance assembly features adjustable helical torsion springs for longer life.

An OEM limited warranty – as well as our network of Wayne Dalton dealers – ensures expert installation and dependable service over the life of the shutter.

Customize With Options

Several options are available to further customize our wood counter shutters to meet specific aesthetic and functional requirements. In addition to the choice of wood species, you can specify an optional hood. Crank operation or motor operation are also available as options, and the optional cylinder locks enhance security.
